CONNECTING WITH COMMUNITY

SHELL IS COMMITTED TO BEING A GOOD NEIGHBOUR AND AN ACTIVE MEMBER OF THE COMMUNITY.

Shell recognises that two-way dialogue is the key to building long-term, enduring relationships with communities directly and indirectly affected by our current and future operations.

We have an ongoing commitment to engage with the communities in the areas we operate and we ensure communities benefit from our presence while minimising potential impacts from our operations.

Connect with us through

- Community Information Centres
- Regional Community Consultative Committees
- Information sessions
- Community information line and mailbox
- Social media
- Shell Australia website
- Email blasts
- Operations Bulletin

INFORMATION CENTRES

On a day-to-day basis the project connects with the community through our information centres located in Chinchilla, Wandoan and Gladstone.

COMMUNITY COMMITTEES

Our Regional Community Consultative Committees allow us to reach out, inform and consult with locals who speak for the towns and rural vicinities in which we work.

COMMUNITY INFORMATION LINE AND MAILBOX

You can call us on our 24 hour community information line on 1800 030 443 or email us at qgcommunity@shell.com if you have any enquiries.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Check our Facebook page to keep updated on our community events, work activities, funding opportunities and what we are up to in the community.

INFORMATION SESSIONS

Information sessions are held in project areas to keep communities updated on our activities. Community has the opportunity to consult with project staff direct.

EMAIL BLASTS

Receive short email updates on our activities in your area. Subscribe at www.shell.com.au/about-us/projects-and-locations/qgc/news/sign-up-for-newsletter

OPERATIONS BULLETINS

Our Quarterly Operations Bulletin provides communities with a variety of information about our activities. Register to receive our Operations Bulletin, subscribe at: www.shell.com.au/qgc-opsbulletin

SHELL AUSTRALIA WEBSITE

Please remember to visit our website for information on project and operational updates, technical information, community events and funding opportunities.
